6 Case No. 21-cv-06672-JST

7 ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE8

12 On August 30, 2021, Plaintiff Scott Johnson filed this action against Defendant 3375
13 Camino City Square LLC, alleging violations of the Americans with Disabilities Act (“ADA”) and 14 California’s Unruh Civil Rights Act (“Unruh Act”) in relation to the establishment known as 15 Tiranga Super Market in Santa Clara, California. ECF No. 1. Plaintiff seeks injunctive relief
16 under the ADA and the Unruh Act, statutory damages under the Unruh Act, and attorney’s fees 17 and costs. Id. at 7. Plaintiff contends that this Court has federal question jurisdiction over the 18 ADA claim and supplemental jurisdiction over the Unruh Act and other state law claims. Id. ¶¶ 5-19 6.20
21 Supplemental jurisdiction “is a doctrine of discretion, not of plaintiff’s right.” United Mine
22 Workers v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726 (1966). District courts have discretion to decline to exercise 23 supplemental jurisdiction if: “(1) the claim raises a novel or complex issue of State law, (2) the 24 claim substantially predominates over the claim or claims over which the district court has original 25 jurisdiction, (3) the district court has dismissed all claims over which it has original jurisdiction, or 26 (4) in exceptional circumstances, there are other compelling reasons for declining jurisdiction.”

27 28 U.S.C. § 1337(c).

28 Numerous federal district courts across California have declined to exercise supplemental

1 jurisdiction over Unruh Act claims brought alongside ADA claims, citing 28 U.S.C. §§ 1367(c)(2)
2 & (c)(4). See, e.g., Estrada v. Fiesta III, LLC, 2020 WL 883477, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 9, 2020)
3 (declining to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the plaintiff's Unruh Act claim because 4 "exceptional circumstances" and "compelling reasons" existed, and stating that the plaintiff may 5 "pursue his Unruh Act claim in state court – the appropriate forum for such claim under these 6 circumstances"); Langer v. Mobeeus, Inc., 2020 WL 641771, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 2, 2020)
7 (similar); Langer v. Deddeh, 2019 WL 4918084, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Oct. 4, 2019) (declining to 8 exercise supplemental jurisdiction because the Unruh Act claim predominated over the ADA
9 claim and the interests of comity and discouraging forum shopping constituted exceptional 10 circumstances); Theroux v. Oceanside Motel-9, LP, 2019 WL 4599934, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 20, 11 2019) (similar); Langer v. Petras, 2019 WL 3459107, at *2 (S.D. Cal. July 31, 2019) (similar);
12 Spikes v. All Pro Auto Repair, Inc., 2019 WL 4039664, at *2 (S.D. Cal. Aug. 26, 2019)
13 (dismissing for these reasons various state law claims including claims for violation of the Unruh 14 Act, California Health and Safety Code Section 19955, negligence per se, and negligence); 15 Rutherford v. Ara Lebanese Grill, 2019 WL 1057919, at *5 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 6, 2019) (finding that 16 "it would be improper to allow Plaintiff to use the federal court system as a loophole to evade 17 California's pleading requirements").

18 This Court recently declined jurisdiction over a plaintiff's Unruh Act claims in 19 circumstances like those presented here. Arroyo v. Quach, Inc., Case No. 21-cv-08778-JST, ECF
20 No. 21 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 12, 2022). The Court noted that California federal courts have recently 21 experienced a large influx of cases involving a federal claim under the ADA for failure to ensure 22 that businesses are accessible to customers with disabilities, accompanied by a state-law claim
23 under the Unruh Act, which provides statutory damages for the same conduct. The Court noted 24 that the Ninth Circuit had tied this increase in filings largely to California's recent decision to 25 impose "additional procedural requirements on construction-related accessibility claims" in order 26 to "balance its objectives of allowing monetary relief, avoiding undue burdens on businesses, and 27 realigning undesirable incentives for plaintiffs." Arroyo v. Rosas, 19 F.4th 1202, 1207, 1213 (9th 28 Cir. 2021) (internal quotation marks omitted). The Court continued:

1 The comparative ease of filing these cases in federal courts “has 2 created an end-run around California’s requirements,” because 3 heightened procedural requirements generally do not extend to cases
4 filed in federal courts. Id. at 1213 (cleaned up); see also Castillo-
5 Antonio v. Hernandez, No. 19-cv-00672-JCS, 2019 WL 2716289
6 (N.D. Cal. June 28, 2019) (“As district courts within the Ninth 7 Circuit have repeatedly held, state pleading requirements for 8 disability discrimination claims do not apply in federal court 9 because such requirements are procedural in nature and federal 10 courts use federal procedural rules.”). This shift “threatens to 11 substantially thwart California’s carefully crafted reforms in this 12 area and to deprive the state courts of their critical role in 13 effectuating the policies underlying those reforms.” Arroyo, 19 14 F.4th at 1213.

15 As the Ninth Circuit recognized, this situation presents “extraordinary circumstances” within the 16 meaning of § 1367(c)(4). Id. at 1214. The Court in Quach found the same “extraordinary 17 circumstances,” and then determined, after considering economy, convenience, fairness, and 18 comity, that there were compelling reasons to decline supplemental jurisdiction.

19 This case presents the same considerations that were present in Quach and numerous 20 similar cases in other California federal courts. Accordingly, the Court now ORDERS Plaintiff to 21 show cause as to why the Court should not decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the 22 Unruh Act claim in the complaint in this case. Plaintiff shall file a response to this order to show
23 cause within 21 days of this order. In the response, Plaintiff shall identify the amount of statutory 24 damages sought in this action. Plaintiff and Plaintiff’s counsel shall also include declarations in 25 their responses which provide all facts necessary for the Court to determine if they satisfy the 26 definition of a “high-frequency litigant” under California Civil Procedure Code §§ 425.55(b)(1) &
27 (2). Failure to file a written response will result in dismissal of the complaint.

28 IT IS SO ORDERED.
